

2014 COMMONWEALTH GAMES LEGACY PLAN

CONNECTED

SUSTAINABLE

ACTIVE

FLOURISHING

Foreword

We are delighted to present West Dunbartonshire Council's Commonwealth Games Legacy Plan.

Legacy provides a unique opportunity for all of West Dunbartonshire and Scotland to participate in a wide range of legacy initiatives, both local and national.

As an authority, we are keen to encourage and inspire people to be more active, to try something new, to deliver a flourishing local economy and to improve peoples' health and wellbeing.

The actions set out in this Legacy Plan will help to direct and shape activities, both sporting and cultural and the environment and lives of people living, working and visiting West Dunbartonshire. To ensure that our actions are representative of the needs of our communities, we have consulted with key stakeholders. We are committed to delivering a long term legacy for West Dunbartonshire and its communities and to ensure there is something for all interested groups in the Plan. I would encourage everyone to enjoy and participate in some of the activities on offer during 2014.

Introduction

West Dunbartonshire Council's 2014 Legacy Plan aims to ensure a lasting sustainable legacy from National and Local events during 2014.

These events include Glasgow Commonwealth Games, the 40th Ryder Cup at Gleneagles and the Homecoming celebration that will run throughout the year. From a local perspective we will be commemorating World War 1 with a range of activities we will also host the Scottish Pipe Band Championship in July, together with a range of local events and cultural activities.

The Legacy Plan will ensure an integrated approach to allow people of all ages, interests and abilities to participate in 2014 related cultural and sporting activities.

The aim of this document is to ensure the Legacy Plan delivers against the Council's priorities. It also aims to develop partnership working across the Council with partner agencies, continue to improve health within the authority, ensure the Council contributes to the National Agenda and provides individuals and organisations an opportunity to flourish.

What is Legacy?

'Legacy is about using the unique opportunity of the Games to deliver lasting change across the whole of Scotland – now, in the run-up to the Games, and in the years beyond. Given the very wide range of legacy programmes and initiatives available this will mean different things to different people.'

Scottish Government 2012

Active – We want to inspire the people of Scotland to be more active. To take part in physical activity and sport. To live longer, healthier lives. The commonwealth Games offer a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to get Scotland more active. By using the power and excitement generated by this landmark event, we will encourage everyone – young and old – to get involved in a wide range of physical activity and sport.

Connected – The Games offer huge potential to inspire, create and to learn. We want individuals and communities to get involved, to try something new, and to develop and enhance friendships and relationships both in Scotland and across the Commonwealth. Our reputation as a modern, vibrant and culturally rich and diverse nation will be enhanced. Everyone, particularly our young people, will know about Scotland's place in the world and embrace what the world has to offer.

Flourishing – A flourishing Scotland will make the most of the economic and social opportunities of Glasgow 2014 and other high-profile events to help existing or potential Scottish businesses prosper. It will also improve their skills and workforce to be more resilient and to apply for wider public sector contracts worth £8bn. Working in partnership, we will develop a legacy supporting business, employment, skills and tourism and Scotland's reputation.

Sustainable – A sustainable Scotland is committed to creating well-designed, sustainable places, both urban and rural, further supporting people's health. In delivering the Games, protecting and enhancing Scotland's biodiversity and landscape for future generations is a key responsibility. It is reflected in the high environmental standards set out as part of Glasgow's successful bid for delivering the Games themselves and in our plans for an enduring legacy extending across Scotland both before and beyond 2014.

National Context

Homecoming 2014

Homecoming Scotland 2014 will reinforce Scotland's position on the international stage as a dynamic and creative nation. It will extend the benefits and opportunities offered by the Commonwealth Games and Ryder Cup and build on the success of the first year of Homecoming 2009 by presenting a year-long co-ordinated programme of inspirational events. This programme will be designed to support Scotland's events industry, increase visitors' numbers and generate additional tourism revenue in a celebration of Scotland's past, present and future.

Support a 2nd Team

West Dunbartonshire's second teams are Uganda and Isle of Man. Early contact has been made with both countries' Games Committee. Support a 2nd Team is an aspiration to see a programme of events to engage the cultures of the Commonwealth Countries and further develop links with Commonwealth regions providing an opportunity as part of the wider Games Legacy. The initiative aims to create and provide opportunities to develop relationships with participating Commonwealth Games countries and support them through their journey to the games and beyond. Sportscotland is leading the development of the initiative through a co-ordinated approach in conjunction with Glasgow 2014, Commonwealth Games Associations (CGAs), local partners and Education Scotland. Partners are encouraged to become involved and to explore opportunities that can integrate and enhance work they are already undertaking.

The principal aims are to:-

1. Provide the opportunity for competing teams, particularly the small teams with limited resources and little travelling support, to be supported by local partners. This will bring the Games closer to local communities with mutual benefits between countries and local partners.
2. Enhance the Games experience for participating countries and local communities throughout Scotland.

Queen's Baton Relay

The Queen's Baton Relay is steeped in tradition and is a major part of the build-up to the Commonwealth Games. The relay traditionally commences from Buckingham Palace, London where Her Majesty the Queen places a message to the athletes inside the baton. The baton is then passed on to the first honorary relay runner which is the start of its journey throughout the 71 Commonwealth countries over a period of 288 days. The relay concludes at the Commonwealth Games Opening Ceremony in Glasgow on the 23 July 2014 where Her Majesty the Queen, or her representative, receives the baton. They then retrieve the message which is read aloud to the watching world officially declaring the Games open.

Glasgow 2014 Commonwealth Games

Glasgow will host the 2014 Commonwealth Games from the 23 July – 3 August 2014. Approximately 6,500 athletes and officials from 71 nations and territories will take part in 17 sports (5 of which include para sport medal events). Scotland and the City of Glasgow are expecting many thousands of visitors and spectators. This will be the biggest multi-sport event that Scotland has ever hosted.

40th Ryder Cup

In 2014, Scotland will host one of the world's major sporting occasions, the Ryder Cup. This prestigious event will put Scotland's reputation at the 'Home of Golf' firmly on the world stage as all eyes turn to the PGA Centenary Course at Gleneagles in Perthshire. It will be the first time in more than four decades that the Ryder Cup has been staged in Scotland and the 2014 tournament is expected to attract in excess of 45,000 spectators each day.

2014 has the potential to bring significant opportunities and benefits to the whole of Scotland with individual local authorities and Local Government collectively being crucial to the success of many elements of the programmes and events.

Deliver the Plan

The West Dunbartonshire Legacy Plan will be led and monitored by the Housing, Environmental & Economic Development department. The plan will be delivered through various working groups that involve a range of Council departments and partner organisations.

We have developed a comprehensive Events Calendar and an Action Plan for each of the four legacy ambitions set out by Scottish Government.

The Calendar and Action Plans follow this section.
